SUMMER SCHOOL

“Turkey in Europe: Meeting of Cultures”

www.intercultural-europe.net

The European Union Institute of Marmara University (Istanbul) introduces a summer school creating opportunities for intercultural dialogue between university students who are Turkish citizens, German citizens and German citizens of Turkish origin. The summer school constitutes one of the main activities of the project entitled “Bridges of Understanding: Intercultural Europe and Turkey’s Contribution.”

Time and Venue:

The summer school will be held in Istanbul between 30 August - 13 September.

Participants:

The university students (3-4th grade or Masters level) in Turkish and German universities are welcome to the summer school. 35 students will be selected, and the distribution of the participants is arranged as follows:

- 10 students from Turkish universities,
- 25 students from German universities.

Participants are supposed to have good command of English as all the lectures and activities will be in English.

The summer school will be comprised of a series of lectures on various aspects of contemporary Turkey such as Turkish society, culture, history, and Turkey’s accession process to the EU, as well as concepts such as intercultural dialogue, perceptions of other cultures, and the future of Europe. The school will also cover such activities as role-play, team work, brainstorming, and meetings with public figures like politicians, journalists, writers, business people, actors or pop-stars, and cultural excursions in and around Istanbul.

The primary focus of the summer school will be to inform the participants about Turkey, and raise their awareness of Turkey’s accession to the EU.

Participation Fee:

Travel tickets, accommodation and of the participating students will be provided free of charge by the host institution.
